

Coverage Exchange

Coordinated by Julia Bergeron

If you want feedback on your script, get it at the Alameda Writers Group Coverage Exchange. This type of coverage normally costs between $50 and $500, but it's free to AWG members.

It doesn't matter what stage your project is at, as long as you agree to read two scripts and give coverage on them before getting coverage on yours. The AWG provides guidelines and the handy AWG Screenplay Coverage Report.

Simply email your script as a PDF file to Julia Bergeron, the Coverage Exchange Moderator, and include the title, logline, genre, page count, and where you are in the writing process (first draft, intermediate draft, polish, etc.) Julia will send out an invitation to the membership, asking for coverage. Each AWG member assigned your script has one week from their receipt of the script to read it, fill out a Screenplay Coverage Report, and return the form to Julia.

Once Julia receives the Coverage Form, she will email it to you.

It's that simple!
